apparently a near pauper. Anderson was about 60 years of age at the time of his death. He had been in the city but a short time when he was stricken with pneumonia, which carried him to his grave. The old man was occupying a room at a private residence on Lincoln avenue when he was taken ill. His method of living never indicated that he was possessed of ample means. The members of the family at whose home the old man lived say that he was most frugal in his habits. His meals were eaten in his room, and usually consisted of inexpensive articles purchased at the grocery stores of the city. His cloth-ing was shabby and his whole appearance was that of a poverty-strick en old man who was trying to eke out an existence on a meager income.

When he died, after a few days' illness, the county authorities were notified, and preparations were being made to bury him at the expense of the county when an examination of his personal effects disclosed the fact that the old man possessed a fortune of large dimensions. The authorities got into communica-tion with Mrs. Grace Hammond, a daughter, living at Lawton, Mich., who came to Ogden and accompanied the remains back to that state, where they were buried.

In the probate division of the District court yesterday County Physician J. W. Pidcock, Dr. G. W. Green and George W. Larkin & Sons, undertakers, as creditors of the estate, filed a petition asking that James E. Halver-son be appointed as administrator of the estate.

CEORGE E. DINSDALE LAID TO REST

Beautiful and impressive funeral services were held yesterday afternoon over the remains of George Eugene Dinsdale, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dinsdale of this city. The services were held in the Third Ward meeting house, Bishop Carl E. Peterson officiating.

Many beautiful floral offerings bore mute testimony of the love which the friends of the little boy had for him. President Chas. F Middleton spoke of his long acquaintance with the Dinsdale family, dating back to pioneer days. He also spoke many comforting words to the bereaved family assuring them that their little boy was in the kind hands of his relatives who had gone before, and that they should
